WHY CHOOSE CORAL EXPEDITIONS

Our fleet of three specialised expedition ships and tenders take guests to some of the most beautiful, yet undiscovered islands and coastal regions of the world. Our guests are attracted by our relaxed small ship atmosphere and itineraries larger ships cannot replicate.

At a time when the cruise industry is moving to larger and less personal ships with more gimmicks, we have purposefully limited the size of our ships to maximise the expedition experience. Our cuisine is prepared in small batches from our onboard galley using quality Australian produce and wine. We operate to high Australian standards of safety with qualified Australian crew wherever we go. We were the first to offer interpretive programs reflective of the destinations we visit and to employ Expedition Leaders, Guest Lecturers, Marine Biologists, and SCUBA Instructors – a tradition that continues today.

- We focus on the destinations. Connecting guests with nature, culture, and heritage with more time ashore in remote natural areas away from the crowds.
- A true expedition ethos. Small ships mean fewer guests and more intimate and personal encounters along the way. We have deep respect and strong connections with the places we visit and maintain flexibility in our planning to make impromptu stops if extraordinary opportunities in nature present.
- Warm Australian hospitality. Our all-Australian crew are passionate and proud to share the adventure with you. Always attentive and caring with a friendly and approachable style in keeping with our Australian values.
- Purpose built ships. Designed for tropical expedition access, our fleet is comfortable, safe, and manoeuvrable enabling you to get in shallow and close to nature with ease where other operators cannot. Plenty of wide-open public spaces and all outward facing staterooms connect you with the destination.
- Our unique Xplorer tenders. The safari jeeps of the sea; our Xplorers enable guests safe and easy access onto excursions into remote rivers, reef systems and isolated beaches. All guests get out on excursion at once with no queues or waiting. Shade canopy to protect from the tropical sun, comfortable seats, open sides and audio systems enhance the journey. These are supported by Zodiacs along the way.
- Local expertise that is unrivalled. Our expert guides and local crew have decades of experience to draw on regarding the tides, the charts, and the seasons. We get you to the right place at the right time and always explore in a respectful and caring manner.
- All inclusive. Your cruise fare covers everything that matters most including excursions, activities, meals and drinks, expert guides, taxes, and fees. Unpack once and then simply relax and enjoy the experience.
- Our service and care. Our friendly staff and crew have one focus – to help you enjoy the trip of a lifetime. We will always be willing to assist and with a genuine care that is part of our culture.

This is true expedition cruising. At Coral Expeditions, we have built our reputation on offering a truly immersive and authentic expedition cruise experience. It is more relevant today than ever and sets us apart from the pack.

Later, snorkel or dive on the outer reef, where we may see turtles, wrasse, and spinner dolphins in the warm, clear waters.

Wander through Gizo's open-air markets, which showcase a bounty of tropical fruits and fresh fish, as well as crafts by the region's legendary wood and stone carvers. In the afternoon, we cruise past Kennedy Island before enjoying water activities at Njari Reef. Njari Reef is a merge point for oceanic currents and is said to have one of the highest fish counts in the world.

VONAVONA LAGOON, SOLOMON ISLANDS

We head to Vonavona Lagoon, a large lagoon located in the New Georgia Islands of the Western Province. Teeming with colourful fish and hundreds of islets, the lagoon offers opportunities for snorkelling and scenic cruising. Later in the day, enjoy guided jungle walks on Lola Island.

TETEPARE, SOLOMON ISLANDS

We visit Tetepare, abandoned 150 years ago, now protected by a unique conservation project run by the Tetepare Descendants Association. A vast array of plants and animals make their home on the island - it supports nesting populations of three species of turtle, the world's largest skink, hornbills, and tiny pygmy parrots.

Stroll through the forest while you learn more about how the island's traditional landowners rejected logging offers and came together to save this island's biodiversity. You will also have an opportunity to see the turtle tagging process, and finish with snorkelling over the island's flourishing reefs.

MAROVO LAGOON, SOLOMON ISLANDS

Marovo Lagoon is the world's largest double barrier enclosed saltwater lagoon. Today, you will be welcomed to this natural wonder by the locals with traditional dancing. Learn about village life and observe the work of expert woodcarvers, who are justifiably famous for the intricate pieces they create from ebony with inlays of mother-of-pearl. Spend the afternoon exploring Marovo Lagoon's coral reef ecosystems, where the waters teem with tropical fish and boast exceptional diving and snorkelling sites.

There will also be an opportunity to dive and snorkel from the white sandy beaches.

ESPIRITU SANTO, VANUATU

Espiritu Santo is the largest island in Vanuatu. In the aftermath of World War II, the island's southeastern point earned the name, 'Million Dollar Point' after American soldiers sunk the vehicles of their retired task force after being unable to sell them. Espiritu Santo and its surrounding islands are known for their world class beaches and 'blue holes' - natural swimming pools located deep within the jungle. Here we will avoid the well-trodden locations, in favour of less touristed destinations with opportunities for snorkelling, diving and 'blue hole' swims.

AMBRYM, VANUATU

Home to majestic Benbow and Marum volcanoes, Ambrym is home to one of the most active volcanoes in the New Hebrides Arc. SEA DAY

Today, you will be introduced to Micronesian culture and protocols. There will be briefings on snorkeling, diving, and other activities including presentations by guest lecturers.

KAPINGAMARANGI ATOLL, MICRONESIA

Kapingamarangi is the most southerly point of Micronesia and a Polynesian outlier, located some 740km from the main island, the state of Pohnpei. The total area of the atoll including the lagoon is 74km sq, it has 33 wooded islets on the eastern side and a population of around 500. There is also the opportunity to purchase handmade souvenirs and swim in the pristine azure waters on our visit.

SEA DAY

KOSRAE, MICRONESIA

Known as the 'island of the sleeping lady'. Explore the enigmatic Lelu Ruins site, once an impressive city covering 20 hectares with an extensive canal system, social structure and pyramidal tombs. After exploring the island, enjoy an exclusive remote BBQ lunch set up by our crew.

SEA DAY

TRUK LAGOON, MICRONESIA

With a protective reef of 225km enclosing the natural harbour, Truk lagoon was the perfect location for Japan's World War II South Pacific base. This is a great opportunity for certified divers to do up to 3 dives on various wrecks. Here, you might witness demonstrations of weaving and the creation of traditional foods as well as you can go canoe sailing with the locals or enjoy a snorkel/swim or dive.

IFALIK, MICRONESIA

One of the most traditional villages in Micronesia, Ifalik is determined to maintain a cultural integrity that we are privileged to experience. It is located 700 km southeast of Yap Island. The total land area is 1.47sq. km but has a large lagoon for guests to visit. Learn the history behind Ifalik being known as a "warrior island". Before European contact, its warriors invaded the outer islands in Yap as well as some of the outer islands in Chuuk. Be welcomed by villagers in traditional ceremonial headdresses and later enjoy a guided walk where you can watch and try the local art of weaving and basket making. Enjoy another spectacular snorkel/swim or dive as well as bird watching on a remote beach.

SEA DAY

YAP ISLAND, MICRONESIA

Spend your day at Yap by visiting the village of Kaday with local guides - home to the Stone Money Bank. Yap State is one of the four states of the Federated States of Micronesia. The main island of Yap is famous for its stone currency - limestone discs (Rai) spanning in size from 4m to 4cm in diameter. Experience the famous Bamboo dance performed by young dancers and spend the rest of your day snorkelling or diving with local guides.

SEA DAY

PALAU, REPUBLIC OF PALAU

Officially the Republic of Palau is an Island country in the Micronesian sub region of Oceania in the western Pacific, the republic consists of 340 islands and connects the chain of the Caroline Islands with parts of the FSM. While the ship is anchored in Koror, certified divers have the opportunity to embark on 1 or 2 dives guided by locals. For those preferring snorkeling, explore the stunning Rock Island with local guides. Additionally, immerse yourself in the city's culture with a guided tour, including a visit to the excellent local museum.

SEA DAY

HELEN REEF OR SONSOROL, PALAU

Meet with local rangers for insights into turtle conservation efforts before embarking on a guided nature walk. Engage in birdwatching activities and then dive into the nearby reef systems for an unforgettable snorkelling, swimming, or diving experience. Located in the southwest Islands of Palau, Helen Reef is a large, enclosed Atoll with extensive reef flats and a large channel complex and a small island that is a critical sea turtle nesting site and a nesting site for many sea bird species.

SEA DAY

Day 3 | Samarai Island & Sewa Bay

After lunch, we edged through the narrow passage into beautiful Sewa Bay, on the west coast of Normanby Island, where the Xplorer landed us on the beach at Pwanapwana village. We were greeted by a throng of children and their parents and led along an avenue of trees to the grounds of the community school. Seated under an L-shaped canopy of pandanus thatch, we were treated to a series of dances by the school children, all dressed in traditional clothing, and then led to a series of different demonstrations of pandanus weaving, sago processing and local cooking. Many of the school teachers and children kindly guided us up the hill behind the school and into their homes, and then the entire community followed us down to the water's edge, where Bosun Bryan revved up the Xplorer's engines, showering the more adventurous kids with spray, to their absolute delight.

Day 4 | Dei Dei (Ferguson Island) & Dobu Island

We took up a position off the smaller conical volcanic island of Dobu, its ash slopes deeply scored by eroded valleys. With volcanoes to our right and left, and geysers and vents elsewhere we were now well within the Ring of Fire! We were also now in the area known as the Kula ring, a traditional network of exchange involving ancient shell and stone valuables in which Dobu Island played a central part. Senior chiefs in the hierarchical societies of these islands continue to participate in these competitive and prestige exchanges which see white armshells called mwali move in a more or less counter-clockwise direction between the D'Entrecasteaux and Trobriand Island groups, against a counter-current of bagi shell necklaces moving clockwise. Dobu is one of the most famous mission stations in PNG, with an old church bearing the name of the first missionary, William Bromilow, and where we were treated to delightful renditions of the national anthem by schoolchildren, followed by dances and a display of Kula valuables, strung out along a pole.

Day 5 | Kuiawa Island (Trobriand Islands)

At 0800 we headed ashore to magical Kuiawa on the Xplorer. Even within the Trobriand Islands, Kuiawa is relatively remote and removed from the main island of Kiriwina, and the local villagers were out in force to greet us. We were given an official welcome and then enjoyed several traditional Trobriand dances and songs performed by all age groups. The costumes, instruments and style of dancing were notably different to anything we had experienced so far. The Trobriands are expert carvers and their style is unique. Proud mothers and sisters would dash out from the crowd to hang shell necklaces over the dancers. As guests were shown through the village by enthusiastic guides there were small stalls along the way where we could purchase our own piece of the Trobriands and take home an expertly made carving or woven basket.

After lunch on board the ship, it was time to get in the water and enjoy some excellent snorkelling on the reef at the entrance to Kuiawa village. Other guests chose to return to shore and spend more time in the village.

Day 6 | Tufi Fjord & Natade Village

Traditional canoes expertly steered by children and led by a magnificent leader standing on a canoe platform to deliver his welcome, ferried us across to a welcome by black-painted warriors and girls throwing petals. On a grassy expanse in the pretty village of Natade, dancers performed for us, dressed in beaten barkcloth or tapa, decorated with ancient clan designs, and sporting elaborate headdresses topped with the plumes of Raggiana birds-of-paradise, cassowary and cockatoos. This was followed by a number of well-designed demonstrations of traditional practices, including the tattooing of women's faces, fire-making, the production and decoration of tapa, and the application of traditional medicines. A stunning range of local artefacts, including lengths of decorated tapa, shell necklaces and string bags, was available in a market that sprang up out of nowhere, and the dancers continued to beat their drums long after we had filed back to the landing and returned to the ship for lunch.

Day 7 | Buna & Sanananda

The Xplorer landed us, much like troops in the war, on the black sand beach of Buna, only we were greeted by a line of beautiful children wearing traditional costumes and placing flower garlands over our heads. We then enjoyed a powerful traditional dance by senior men beating hand drums and women holding sheets of tapa barkcloth over their heads.

From there some walked in groups along the long beach while others took the Xplorer to Buna government station, where we read a number of commemorative plaques put up in memory of fallen US and Australian soldiers. Passing an aircraft wing inserted vertically into the ground, we walked up a long straight road through Buna village, visiting the local medical aid post and a small community museum which had been opened just the day before, stocked with helmets, weapons and the other debris of war found in the surrounding fields.
